What a Hit! Courtney Bottomley as Mrs. Savage contemplates her thoughts as the silent Cristen Bradshaw looks on in A Curious Savage.

How Cute! Erik Corcoran gazes adoringly at the doll he just bought at the National Honor Society craft fair.

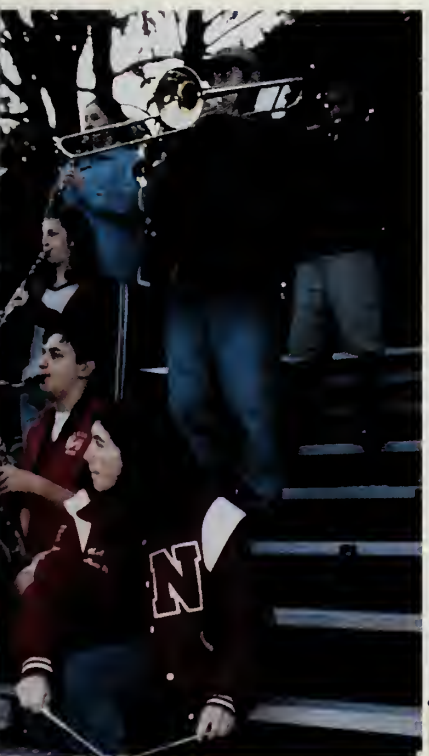

Faces Ready? Natalie Fertitta puts the finishing touches on Ben Norman's make-up before the fall production.

Strike up the Band! This impromptu pep band gets ready to cheer on the girls in the annual Powderpuff game.

Hey! That's My Seat! Fall Sports captains fight to win musical chairs.

Trick-or-Treat! Childcare students indulge their young friends by dressing up on Halloween.

Get pulled in...

Do you remember the first time you saw the OCEAN? The first time you let your feet sink into the SOAKED SAND and watched in awe as the WAVES crashed around your ankles? Did you ever wonder about the secrets hidden in each SPARKLING, BLUE CREST? About the future that might be riding in on THE NEXT WAVE ?

Since that time, we have all grown and evolved in ways that we never could have imagined. Just like each new wave that breaks on the SHORE, we are all unique; no two of us are alike. We have struggled to understand the differences that sometimes have divided us, and we have learned to celebrate the individuality that makes each one of us special. Together, we have plunged into the DEEPEST WATERS and survived to float on the CALMEST SEAS. We have faced our challenges thus far with a combination of perseverance and unity that has made us nearly invincible.

Third Block! North wrestlers slide to the middle of the mat for their pre-meet pep talk from the captains.

All Ones! The Hockomock Champion Volleyball team shows everybody who's number one!

Time Faces: Heather Birtwell and Katherine Isaac try to remain serious while preparing their routine during a basketball game.

The development of our strong sense of individuality parallels the relationship between waves and pebbles. As we, the pebbles, struggle through the sometimes OVERWHELMING CURRENTS of the ocean, we use our talents and skills to MAKE A SPLASH. Every day, we attempt to reach a peak of performance in academic and extracurricular pursuits, influencing both the lives of others and the future of North Attleboro High School.

As PEBBLES ON THE BEACH, we hold just as much importance as the powerful waves. Though we sometimes sit on the sand, allowing the numerous waves to MOLD AND SHAPE us into the people we are now and hope to be in the future, we also provide support, stability, and variety to the high school experience. We are the constant, dependable individuals who always make time for school, activities, and personal relationships.

Freak Out! Ryan Kelley seems to be disgusted by Jen Budd, Liz McKenna and Katie Farren in the cafeteria at senior study.

Follow the Leaders: Senior Class Officers - President, A.J. Magnuson; Vice-President, Vin Sharma; Secretary, Heather Birtwell; Treasurer, Jill Colvin

Pig Out! Adult Living students, Jessica Rofino and Kerrin Fesik enjoy the lunch they have just prepared.

Winter Wonderland? Jen Rowe, Allison Azzolina, Kerri Riel and Janice Currier trek through the pre-dawn snow to get to school.

Freakin' Picassos! Vanessa Megna, Matt Lush, Katie Farren and Niki Carrier show off their fine art skills downtown.

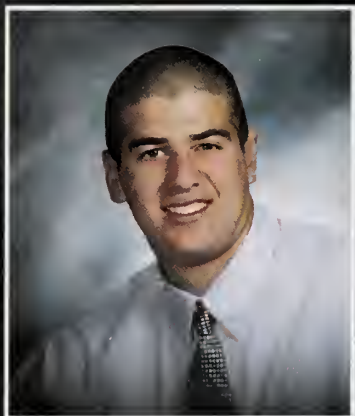

...The Next Wave!

We have each found our own, special places in high school, allowing us the freedom to both RIDE OUT THE WAVES and sit amongst the pebbles. Our high school experiences, especially in the past year, have instilled in us a deeper understanding of our own, individual identities; we have waited patiently to discover the secrets of THE NEXT WAVE, knowing that the unforgettable experiences of high school have transformed us.

Now, that next wave has arrived, bringing with it new ideas, new challenges, and innumerable new questions. We still do not, nor will we ever, know exactly what the future holds in store, but we are sure of one thing. We know that as long as we preserve the INDIVIDUALITY and the UNITY that have supported us throughout the past years, the future belongs to us...We are

Class History

Freshman Year

As the class of 2000 entered North Attleboro High School in September of 1996 we were unsure of ourselves and of the year journey that lay ahead. Freshman year began with the election of class officers and student council representatives. As a class we chose Morgan Beith, President, Sarah Atkins, vice-President, and Katy Britton, secretary. Gina Droney, Kasey Kain, and Amber Scatliffe served as Freshman representatives to the student council.

As the school year progressed we found ourselves immersed in a variety of new activities. Our schedules were filled with schoolwork, sport, drama, after school clubs, and much more.

Soon we began to prepare for the annual float competition with the help of our advisor, Mr. Guthrie. Unfortunately, our inexperienced attempt left us with a disappointing 4th place finish. Gina Droney, Jen Ultsch, Vinay Sharma, and Kevin Bartlett represented the Freshman class on the Homecoming court.

On January 10, 1997 the freshman class teamed up with the sophomores to host an extremely successful Winter Social.

As a class we excelled academically and in extra curricular activities. By the end of our Freshman year we were eager to take on the challenges that awaited us.

Sophomore Year

As Freshman year quickly came to a close, as the Class of 2000 we prepared ourselves for another exciting year. We started off by selecting the Sophomore Class Officers: Kevin Bartlett as President, Matthew Vacher as Vice-President, Lauren Carvalho as Treasurer, and Kerri Inno as Secretary. We also voted Melissa Nelson, Jennifer Ultsch, and Amber Scatliffe as our representatives to Student Council. Our spirit and pride was soaring higher than ever. We managed to capture both fall spirit contests with bags of cotton, face paint, and our enthusiasm. We also walked away with a first place finish in the annual homecoming float competition, with the theme "That's the way the cookie crumbles." Our class was well represented by Gina Droney, Jennifer Ultsch, Kevin Bartlett, and Vinay Sharma on the Homecoming Float.

Once again the Freshman/Sophomore Winter Social was a huge success. With over 300 students attending, this magical evening will not be easily forgotten.

We began to pave a path for ourselves through Class representation in athletics, drama and musical productions, student organizations, and most of all academic achievements. We ended our sophomore year with a positive reputation that gave us the foundation to strive as upperclassmen for our years to come.

Junior Year

As we tumbled into junior year, we encountered difficult challenges. We buckled down and studied hard due to the constant reminder that "junior year is the year that colleges look at." Bombarded with assignments, the juniors added two new words to their vocabulary: Time Management. To prevent ourselves from going insane, we thought of the exciting experiences that awaited us. For example: Our first appearance in Powder Puff, the junior prom, and roller-skates.

We elected A.J. Magnuson as president, Vin Sharma to serve as vice president, Heather Birtwell to serve as treasurer, and Jill Colvin as secretary. Justin Bleak, Missy Nelson, Amber Scatliffe, and Kasey Walters represented our class as members of Student Council.

As the year moved on, we excelled in numerous activities. Whether we participated in music, drama, art, or athletics, we enjoyed ourselves and made the most of our junior year. With a dominating defense we drilled the dumbfounded seniors deep into the ground and sent them home disappointed after being devastatingly defeated. The prom held at Luciano's at Lake Pearl proved to be a success. We danced and danced, danced and ate, ate and danced, and ate and ate.

By the end of junior year, each of us had recognized our strengths and weaknesses. We became more confident and motivated for success. Nearing the final stage of our high school careers, we stepped up to the plate and got ready to take a giant swing out of senior year.

Senior Year

Heading into the 1999-2000 school year, we set out to conquer. We proclaimed ourselves 12th graders and emperors of the school basing our claims on seniority. We proceeded to monopolize the High School of North Attleboro. We strategically appointed ourselves to positions of power in all NAHS organizations: Captains of superior athletic forces, presidents of coalitions, and militant officers of clubs.

We thirsted for expansion, and achieved it through unity. We elected a council of students: Katie Hansen, Ricardo Kuma, Sarah McLanahan, Melissa Nelson, and Kasey Walters. We then empowered our officers President Albert E. Magnuson, Vice-President Vinay Sharma, Treasurer Heather Birtwell, and Secretary Jill Colvin.

From then on we systematically established our superiority. At the battle of PowderPuff, October 1999, our senior sharks led by coaches Ben Achin and Joe Riesenbeck mercilessly destroyed the inferior Junior Jets. That first victory made our appetites for more prestige, leading to homecoming. We declared our King Vin Sharma and Queen Kasey Walters as well as a court of Jill Colvin, Jennifer Ultsch, Justin Bleak, and A.J. Magnuson.

The Senior Class constructed a mockery of the Canton Bulldogs football team entitled "Pound 'Em." Needless to say, it received recognition as "The Best of all Floats" when compared to the classes below us.

However these victories did not satisfy us. Bored with merely conquering one town, we made plans to conquer the entire world by spreading ourselves out in colleges, universities, military organizations and work forces through out the country. The class of 2000 would not rest. For the winter we worked hard to enhance our budget by wrapping gifts for the holidays at the Emerald Square Mall. Coincidentally, we raised $2000, a good base by which we could expand our empire.

Pressures quaked the empire as college acceptances and rejections arrived, the workload built up and intensity detensified. So we sought relief through the Senior Prom, held at the Lake View Pavilion on April 18, 2000. We got jiggy with it on the dance floor to the ballad "To Be with You" by 80's sensation Mr. Big. Live entertainment by Rapmaster Drew Hajian inspired us all during that night of celebration. For King and Queen, we crowned King Vin Sharma and Queen Kasey Walters as the king and queen respectively.

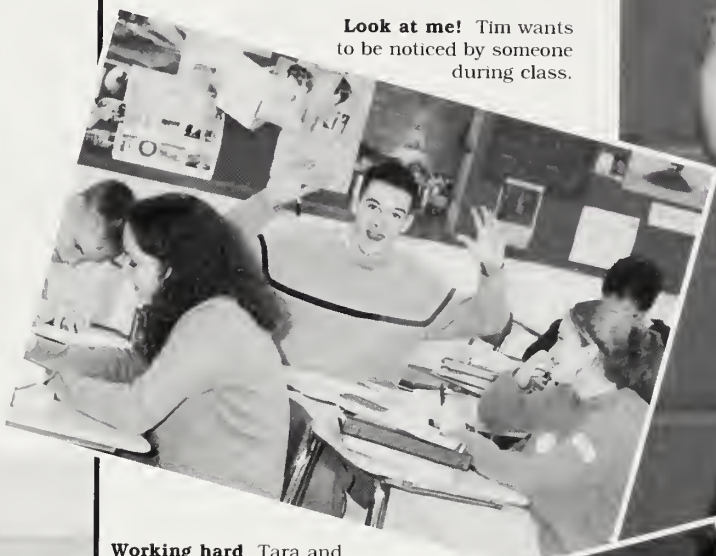

We realized that our control over NAHS could not last for eternity. So we prepared to disband and take over the rest of the world. We felt that philosophical genius Austin Powers' Profound statement of the blatantly obvious "Wherever we go . . . there we are," applied to us. To be alive, we do not need, to strive for the future, we do not need to remember the past. We need to appreciate today, here, and now. "Wherever we go, there we are."

I'm just playing That's all this student is saying as he plays with a display in health class.

Look at me! Tim wants to be noticed by someone during class.

Working hard Tara and Natali are working hard on their art projects.

People

The class of 2000 has been RIDING A WAVE on a quest for knowledge over the last four years. Now, they are catching THE NEXT WAVE, one that will help them invent themselves. The seniors have placed their FOOTPRINTS IN THE SAND for the underclassmen to follow. They have etched a mark or two in the areas of the science fair, drama, sports, and many clubs; and also in the classroom. They are truly a class that has come out on top and will continue to do so in the future.

The juniors made their mark by winning the spirit contest, participating in many extracurricular activities, and excelling on the sports fields as well as in the classroom. Next year will be their year to RIDE THE WAVE and be leaders, but, for now, they have to wait their turn and learn from the seniors.

The sophomores and freshmen came into the school not knowing a lot about what they were getting into, but they have enlightened us with their talents and never-ending school spirit; but for now they will have to sit back and wait for THE WAVE to come in.

JUNIORS

Sailing on By

Class of 2001

Jumping in to a new year we were prepared now to be considered upper-classmen. As we began to understand the ways of the school learned success is easily obtained. We came in first place at our Homecoming rally and had a great time showing our school spirit. Unfortunately we came in second at the float, losing to the Seniors. We dominated the Powderpuff game but unfortunately the seniors walked away with the victory. We had a successful Junior Prom that rocked Luciano's at Lake Pearl, and proved to be a successful night. Many of our fellow classmates excelled on the fields as well as in the classrooms. Many Juniors walked away with winning projects in the science fair and also showed great performances in all school activities. Our new teachers, experiences and classes proved to advance us physically and mentally for the coming year.

Waves of Everlasting Memories

The Junior Prom

The night of February 22, 1999 was a special night to remember for all the juniors. The long-awaited Junior Prom had finally arrived and everyone was prepared for it. Limos, tuxes, and gowns rolled in at Luciano's Lake Pearl Ballroom for a night that the juniors would never forget. When the pictures had all been taken and the dinner all was cleared, the dancers flooded the dance floor to show off their moves.

It was time now to announce the King and Queen of the night. Mark Manoogian was king and Angela Fischer was queen. After the crown was placed on the king and queen the Royal couple led the Royal court and the junior class to the dance floor to dance to "Unchained Melody." Before long the night was coming to a close - after all the last minute pictures were taken and the last song was coming to an end. It was truly a night to remember. As the ballroom was clearing out and people were heading off to the limos, everyone left with a true smile and tons of new memories that would last a lifetime.

Riding in on the Waves

As we walked into the High School this September, we realized we were no longer the itty-bitty Freshmen we were last year. Knowing this, we had expectations set upon us as Sophomores, but we knew with our school spirit we could succeed at any challenge put before us. The year began with the annual spirit contest. The class united and proved to have tremendous spirit with deafening cheers and mountains of confetti. The spirit from the class continued with hours of hard work and devotion they prepared an extraordinary float with the theme, "Canton - Just Another Step to the Top." Although we did not come in first, the class knew that they had won something even more important, the enjoyment that comes from working as a team. The Freshmen/Sophomore Social was a huge hit this year selling over 600 tickets. It became evident that we would have to move the dance to the Middle School Cafe in order to hold such a large crowd. Although uncertain of how the dance would be as enjoyable here the class once again pulled together to organize and decorate a very successful Social.

Splishing and Splashing the Night Away

The Freshman/Sophomore Social

Bubbles and lights enhanced the glittery atmosphere of the middle school cafeteria as students of all grades entered. The long-awaited Freshman/Sophomore Social had finally arrived and everyone was ready for it. For the first time ever, it was held in the new Middle School cafeteria due to the amount of students attending. Nevertheless, the spacious and vibrant cafeteria invited everyone to enjoy the best night of the winter.

With the theme "We're Gonna Party Like It's 1999", the dance floor was packed and the DJ got everyone off their feet with his fantastic music. Everywhere across the cafeteria, girls were glowing with excitement as the boys admired their beauty. The decorations added to the magic air being felt throughout the night by everyone. As the night came to a close, it was agreed; the 1999 Freshman/Sophomore Social would not be forgotten by anyone.

Wow! Glamour girls Meg Kelley and Sarah Munro strike a pose.

Tearin' It Up: Students flood the dance floor for a fun-filled night.

I'll be there in a minute!: Mario Ferro waves to his date so she know he hasn't left.

Together Forever: Geoffrey Comier and Amy Jarvis don't leave each other's side.

Hanging Out: Renee Plante and Chris Hobson show us how to get down.

Are you thirsty?: Eric Clark reaches for a quick drink.

Hold on Tight: Joe Donovan and Amy Billings are holding on to memories forever.

Break Time: Cory Franklin and Dan O'Brien take a break from dancing up a storm.

Waving Hello

It has been a never ending journey of trying times and great accomplishments as we progress through our education. This year was an experience for us coming in as Freshmen filled with new exciting events like the social and homecoming as well as meeting new people and participating in the schools vast sports program. The social was a big hit. So many people attended, that it had to be moved to the junior high just to accommodate the six hundred students that went. Unfortunately our float that we spent many hours on only got fourth place in the competition. But hey, we still got three more years improve on it. Although we never won any of the pep rallies, we had tons of fun showing our school spirit. Our experience as freshmen were quite a memorable one that has lighted a path for us to follow throughout our high school careers and into whatever our future will hold. The experiences that we encountered have stimulated us mentally and emotionally. Next year we hope to continue to carry the torch of excellence that we have lit our freshman year.

Sports

Throughout the four memorable years of high school, sports have played a key role in the development of our athletes; in their individual sports, in the classroom, and in the community. These athletes have developed personality along with skill, camaraderie, and determination. These seniors have experienced the UPS AND DOWNS of their sports, staying with their teams through stagnant or TURBULENT WATERS. The athletes of the class of 2000 have even participated at the varsity level, in some cases, since freshman year. They have learned to take their teams to the top of their game, earning numerous Hockomock League titles and representing their teams at state and New England level competitions.

Sports have been an unpredictable, exciting part of these past four years. Don't let the memories of team huddles, fund-raisers, practices, bus rides back home, and earning that varsity letter wash away with the EBBING TIDE. Keep North Pride AFLOAT in your heart, now and forever.

THE NEXT WAVE

Wave of Victory

Girls' Soccer exemplifies success

For the second consecutive year, girls' soccer started the season with a 3-0 record. Under the expertise of Coach Wallace, we finished third in the league closely following OA and KP. Earning a record of 14-4-0, this team never lost their confidence or pride. We also beat other strong teams within the league and kept the Blue-Red Cup home by beating Attleboro.

Record breaking accomplishments were made this season, such as "Most Wins In a Season". We also made it the farthest in the tournament than any previous girls' soccer team in North history. Captain Tanya Mello scored a total of 114 goals in her career and was named to the All-New England team. Mello joined co-captain Ciara Kindberg and co-captain elect "Buffy" Hastings to represent the Hockomock League and Sun Chronicle All Star teams.

We credit our huge success to our sense of sisterhood. We showed true composure on the field yet pre-game cheers "pumped" us up. Through other team activities, we created a higher level of team unity. Seniors Missy Nelson and Katie Clark will be missed with their high spirits. Next year will undoubtedly bring more success under captains Amy Walkins and Elizabeth Hastings. Good Luck!

Changing Tides

Transitional Season for Boys Soccer

The 1999-2000 season for the North Attleboro Boys' Soccer team was full of transition. With a new head coach and only 2 returning seniors as captains, the young, inexperienced team was thrown into foreign territory. Earning a record of 0-16-2, the team felt disappointed but not discouraged. The team learned to look up to their captains, Ryan Kelley and Christian Walker. They developed friendships and realized that they could depend on their teammates, both on and off the field. The group learned how to play as one unit and learned the meaning of "Winning isn't everything but how hard you try is".

Though the season may not have seemed successful, a valiant effort was given by all members of the young team. The team returned to the field day after day, regardless of the occurrences during previous games. The team possessed diligence and determination. The 1999-2000 season played a great role in providing experience and transition for the team. Next year will surely yield a more victorious record. Good luck to captain elects Ryan Blais, Billy Lazzarro, and Jim MacNamara.

"This ain't just Beach Volleyball!"

Successful season makes N.A. Volleyball History

The 1999 volleyball season was the best ever in the history of North Attleboro. The second consecutive undefeated Hockomock title was merely the beginning of our success. We ended our regular season with a 17-3 record putting us in good standing for the State Tournament. We rolled over Apponoquet and continued into the quarterfinals to meet our greatest rival, Bishop Feehan. We proved not only our strength but also our capability and our desire to win. After this sweet victory, we were determined to make it to the finals. We beat Dartmouth yet lost to four-time state champion, Barnstable. The heartbreaking loss ended our season but did not destroy our pride.

A large part of our success is due to the trust and friendship shared by all. Our incredible team unity began in the summer's boot camps (captain's practices). Our many outings together also provided memories to last a lifetime. Pre-game rituals of lining in size order and rapping to "Wanna Be A Baller" pumped us up for each match. This was definitely a year to remember, for our accomplishments and good times. Good luck next year and WAX IT! We love you!!

North Attleborough Golf

The 1999-2000 golf season for the Red Rockeers proved to be successful. Despite losing seven seniors last year, the team entered the season with high expectations. After spending endless hours practicing at the driving range and on the golf course, the team was ready for the first match. North blasted out of the gate in route to their first victory over a spectacular Oliver Ames team. "This was a key win for our club, I can just feel the energy building," commented Bill Skitt, a comical and emotional leader. This momentum carried the team through the rest of the season.

Under the unwavering hand and watchful eye of Coach Nunes, the Rockeers were ready to begin the State Tournament at Fall River C.C. Feeling a little nervous before the big season finale, Mike "Camel" Carroll made the swift decision of tossing a few tees down the ventilation system of the "new" team van. The team barely made it to Fall River due to oxygen deprivation and tainted McDonald's food. However, the strong prevailed through the rigorous terrain of Fall River and left alive. That was the end of a fun and successful season for the N.A. Golf Team. Paving the way to the first championship of the Millennium will be the new captain, Bobby "Double D" Hunt.

Surfing On GLORY

North Football Maintains Championship Title

Under the strong leadership of head Coach Sullivan, as well as many other contributing assistant coaches, the 1999 North Attleboro Football team continued the tradition of earning a superbowl title. This year's co-captains Kevin Bartlett, Ryan Harney, and Jared Perkoski and returning seniors aided in leading the championship team.

We entered the season with high expectations, determined to repeat and surpass last year's impressive accomplishments. With so many returning starters, we felt confident that we could "keep the streak alive".

We began our regular season with our first victory against Bishop Feehan. We then continued onto Stoughton, and Mansfield, which was a crucial game of the season. Yet we played with our heads and hearts and left the field with a 28 to 6 victory against Mansfield. Though undefeated, we had many obstacles to overcome before securing the Hockomock League title. We believed that one of our most difficult obstacles would be defeating Foxboro. However, we played courageously and conquered the Warriors 48 to 7. With this win, we clinched our third straight Superbowl birth and our third Hockomock League Title. We then proceeded into the season and won against Canton, resulting in an undefeated season and a 31 game winning streak. With each victory came more recognition; the Boston Herald ranked us as the best team in Massachusetts.

We then moved onto the momentous annual Thanksgiving Game against Attleboro. This year, Attleboro was also a superbowl contender; therefore, we didn't underestimate their abilities. However we played vigorously and won 22 to 8 and "kept Hilda home".

The ultimate test came as we overcame our final obstacle. On that Saturday at Boston University, the North Attleboro Football team annihilated Rockland High, defeating the competition with a score of 26 to 6.

We had done it! We had won our sixth District III title! It was a great experience to ride the wave of Glory, filled with memories. Good luck to next year's captains: Nick DiNardo, Jerome Kennedy, and Pat McGowan. "Keep the streak alive, boys."

Girls Field Hockey

This year, the field hockey team had the most successful record in North Attleboro history. Co-captains Liz McKenna and Jen Budd directed this talented team to an impressive record of 14-0-4 and the title of Hockomock League Champions. The team was also led by Coaches Bodnar, Fisher, and Goyette, as well as 14 returning seniors Talent, experience, and enthusiasm led to the team's success.

Despite tough competition within the league, we remained unbeaten throughout the season due to strength in all aspects of the game. We began the season with an enthusiastic "dance party", resulting in our first victory. We continued this winning streak and defeated our biggest rival, Mansfield- twice. Our victorious season seeded this team as second in the state in tournament. Our first tourney game tested our strengths and weaknesses; yet despite all efforts, we lost.

Though we worked diligently, we also had fun. Our annual talent shows, flick-a-thon, and car wash supplied many laughs and memories. The JV team and newly established freshmen team contributed much enthusiasm and spirit to the season.

Learning to play in the "Precious Present" was an important milestone of the season. Coach Bodnar taught us to forget past events in order to focus on the challenge at hand.

Thank you to all our parents and fans. We appreciated the continual support. We'll miss all the fun times we've shared: "I always knew I'd look back on the tears and laugh; I never knew I'd look back on the laughs and cry".

Boys' Cross Country

After the disappointing '98 season, the '99 Boys' Cross Country team resolved to make this season a memorable one. The team proved up to the challenge, approaching each meet with enthusiasm. The team finished with a 5-4 record, its best in several years.

This year's senior class was the backbone of the team. Captains Bob Pickett and Brett Thompson led from the front, earning points in almost every meet. Seniors Chad Cerce, James Gronostalski and Ricardo Kuma also had valiant efforts in every race. Overall, our team effort resulted in a great season.

The future looks bright for next year's team. They will be in the capable hands of Captains Justin Demers and Ryan Casey. However, they will have to work with a new coach since Coach Guthrie has decided to retire after many years of dedicated devotion to North Attleboro High School. The seniors wish Coach Guthrie and next year's team the best of luck in their future endeavors.

The 1999 Girls Cross Country team started off the season in good shape. Despite losing our first few meets, we continued to work diligently. We were determined to come back strong. Under the leadership of captains Emily Lane and Alicia Watters and Coach Dwight Estey, we finished the season with a sixth place in the Hockomock League Championships.

Although we were not able to earn the title or win every meet, this team achieved things that are much more important. The friendships and memories made will never be forgotten. Best of luck to this year's seniors and captain-elect Janet Pailles. We wish you luck and another fulfilled season next year.

Under the leadership of captains A.J. Magnuson, Vin Sharma, and Matt Smyka, as well as Coach Griffith and assistant coaches, the North wrestling team earned an impressive record of 12-3. We lost only to Franklin and Foxboro, yet we beat these rivals for the tourney crown. Along with this record, the wrestling team finally gained its well-deserved recognition. With a large fan following, the team competed against many tough opponents.

The sport is composed of many individual tests but the team rallied to support each other through each match. This unity helped us maintain a high competitive level which earned us the right to call ourselves Hockomock League Tournament Champions as well as DII South Sectional Champions. The team's success did not end there. We also placed third in the Marshfield Holiday Tournament; fourth in the Brockton Invitational Tournament; and fourth in the DII State Tournament. We also had five qualifiers for competition at the All-State level; four of whom went on to New England's.

Next year will surely also result in a successful year. Good luck! Make yourselves proud!

Making a Splash

Girls Indoor Track Engulfs the Competition

The 1999-2000 team made its presence known within the Hockomock League. Led by Coach Feid, Coach Holster, and co-captains Mimi Matkowski and Tanya Mello, this year's team surpassed all expectations and was the most successful team in recent North Indoor Track history. With only a handful of seniors and many young, inexperienced athletes, we were determined to make our mark during the league meet season. And our determination prevailed, transforming last year's team (with an unmentionable record) into this year's Hockomock League Meet Champions!

We entered our first meet confident and willing to work hard. We set the tone for the season by dominating most events and earning a victory. Many more followed until we competed against King Philip. Despite every effort to come home with another win, we lost to K.P. by two points. However, we weren't going to allow one disappointment to ruin our season. We went on to conquer the rest of the league, finishing with a 7-0 record, the second in the league. We also placed fifth in the State Class "B" Relays.

Through it all, the "sisterhood" helped us endure our testing workouts and provided us with laughter, support, and... Goody Bags! We learned our to excel in our sport but also how to be teammates. We made lasting memories while breaking records. Good luck to next year's team which will be led by Janet Pailes, Amy Walkins, and Erin McDavitt.

Rise of a New Wave

Boys Indoor Track Takes a New Turn

This year was a year to remember for the team improved our record by winning more than half the meets. Though this accomplishment may seem like a small feat, it has been the first time in long history that the team has won even half its meets. This magnificent accomplishment could never have been achieved without the tremendous leadership of senior captains Kevin Bartlett and Bob Pickett. These two brought new aspects to the team.

Before the season began, we set goals for our team. We brought home a few more victories than last year by winning against Stoughton, Canton, Franklin, Mansfield and Sharon. But more importantly, this team learned to work as a unit. This is what fulfilled our goals. This new sense of cooperation can be also accredited to the seniors who provided leadership and valuable points. And though the team was not a great force against other teams, everyone on the team contributed in their own way.

We would also like to thank Coach Herber for all the time and effort he put into this season. His dedication enabled us to be a step closer to achieving a perfect record. We wish the best of luck to next year's captains, Mike Czepiel and Matt Vigorito.

Girls Basketball overcomes unexpected challenges

At quick glance, many predicted a less than successful '99-'00 season for the Girls Basketball team. Lacking any returning seniors except the two captains, Christy Mandeville and Kerin Fesik, the team should have suffered. With injuries and a great deal of illnesses, the outcome of the season looked shaky. However, the NA Girls Basketball team stuck it out and had an outstanding season! Despite all that we lacked, the existing team members made up for it! Coming off a first game loss proved difficult yet it wasn't long before the team picked it up and went on a 4-0 streak beating Franklin, Mansfield, Canton, and Foxboro. The team then finished the rest of the season smoothly. We qualified for the tournament and were on our way for a great post-season. Traveling up to Whitman- Hanson was exciting and playing the second seeded team was definitely an even more extraordinary experience. We finished our season on a double overtime loss to Hanson. Next year's team will go even further. Leading them will be co-captains Lindsey Vine and Danielle "Dewey" Pond. Good luck! Keep the faith and it'll happen!

Taking Us By Storm

North Boys show us how to REALLY PLAY basketball

The 1999-2000 Boys' Basketball team definitely had a season to be proud of. Team determination and a developed unity amongst the players guided the Rocketeers through the season. Although North fell one game short of winning the Hockomock league title, with a record of 18-5, the team made up for it with three great games in the State Tournament.

Led by Coach Chris Perron, the team fed off his energy and it showed early in the season at the Holiday Tournament. Defensively and offensively manhandling Hope High School in the opening round rocketed the team into a championship game against Attleboro. Tournament MVP Jeff Babul and All-tournament selection Pat McGowan led North to the title.

The turning point of the season occurred when Jeff Babul suffered an injury. However, the team played that much harder and went on to beat Sharon and Barnstable. Then we continued to beat Newton North in what became known as the "David vs. Goliath" game. Though we enjoyed this great victory, the season ended in our defeat to Boston English.

It was a great season led by seniors Ben Achin, Jeff Babul, and Dan Cournoyer. This year's seniors would like to thank Coach Perron for all his effort and emotion which he puts fully into everything he does. Next year's team already has a powerful foundation, with seven tentative returning seniors. These seven players were a critical component to this year's success. Good luck!

Fluid Motion

North Attleboro Gymnastics Define Graceful Movement

The 1999-2000 gymnastics team acquired many new members which added to the fun aura of the team. Due to so many new athletes, we made rookie mistakes. We did not score as well as we could have as a team. However, we used this year as an opportunity to learn about gymnastics and most importantly, ourselves. We didn't score the highest as a team but every member of the team showed talent and enthusiasm.

Led by captains Andrea Tumminelli, Lisa Purcelli, and a new coaching staff, this year's team beat Franklin, Stoughton, and Foxboro. Our seniors, Alyssa Linkamper and Kerri Rocha, also aided in creating a memorable season. Beating only three teams might discourage some but this team never lost its love of the sport. We entered every meet with smiles on our faces. Losing most of our meets didn't seem as important as the fun we had with our teammates. Hopefully, next year will result in a better record for the team and even more memories! Good luck to next year's team and coaches!

Flood of Spirit

"Give me an N-O-R-T-H!"

Our 1999 Football season began as we attended the UCA Clinic, held at Holy Cross, from which we brought home both knowledge and numerous trophies. We held our annual concession stand at Kid's Day and also raised money by holding car washes at the Martin School. Despite other burdens, we built a strong and skillful squad. We proved our talent at the Hockomock Cheerleading Jamboree at Franklin High by performing our elite routine to perfection. We spent extra hours after our practices to decorate the senior hallway for football games and organized the fun games at rallies. We shared our spirit with the North crowd during halftime and on the sidelines by cheering at Community Field.

We entered the 2000 Competition season facing many obstacles. With dedication and determination, we proved that no barriers could stand in the path to success. We placed first at the Warwick Veterans High School and continued to capture five more first place trophies! We also performed the highest scoring routine out of the four other divisions at the State Competition. This was the third state championship in the past four years! These girls surely ended their season with a bang! Good luck on keeping the streak going next year!

Baseball displays in- depth team talent

The 2000 Varsity Baseball team came up short in its quest to reach the state tournament. The team's 7-13 record was not an accurate indication of how many talented players the team possessed. Co-captains Jared Perkoski and Steve Donnelly, along with seniors Chris Tower, Dan DeBiasio, Brian Spencer, and Jack Harris provided the team with leadership and experience.

The season was highlighted by thrilling victories over Sharon, Attleboro, and Canton. Perkoski returned from a mid- season knee injury to post a 4-1 pitching record along with a 1.85 E.R.A. Andy Amara led the offensive attack with a .367 batting average, while Mark Fernandes, Brian Spencer, and Jack Harris tied for the team lead in runs batted with 9 each.

Steve Donnelly was selected as team MVP for being the team's backbone and quiet leader for the past two seasons. Brian Spencer was awarded the Coaches Award for his positive attitude and dedication to this year's team.

The season ended with the Varsity's win over the 1996-1999 Alumni team of 7-5 in the 8th Annual Alumni Game.

Next spring, the team hopes to improve under the leadership of co-captains Mark Manoogian and Derek Smith.

North Boys Tennis Strives To Be the Best

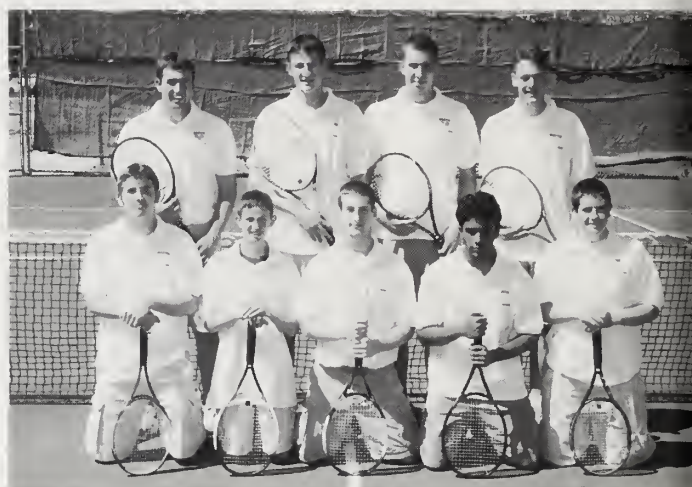

The 2000 Boys Tennis team began the season with high hopes. The three returning seniors this year, Ryan Kelley, Matt Lush, and Alex McCormick, set a foundation for the team. They provided leadership and example as Ryan Kelley played first singles while Matt Lush and Alex McCormick played first doubles. Juniors Junaid Alam and Ryan Casey also added to the strong foundation along with our talented underclassmen.

Despite hard work and determination to be the best, the team earned a record of 5-13, losing to very strong teams within the Hockomock League. Our season's peaks were the victory against Attleboro and repeated victories against Stoughton and Franklin. But with our wins against these three teams we did not lose our will to win. We kept fighting until the very end and ended our season with a strong attempt against Mansfield.

Good luck to next year's returning seniors and underclassmen! After all, it's not if you win or lose but how you played the game.

Boys Spring Track Repeats History

In the past, the Boys Spring Track team demonstrated the depth of talent on the team, despite earning a slightly unfavorable record. This year, the boys team repeated history by displaying the same thorough ability. This year's captains, Erik Corcoran, James Parkinson, and Brett Thompson, Coach Feid, and Coach Herber aided greatly in teaching and leading the team. We did not win every meet, nor become Hockomock Champs yet our spirit and effort could not be beaten by any team we encountered.

During the many season's highlights, many superstars came to light. Daron Nixon set a new school record in the long jump and continued to States in that event. Glenn Sharpe, Brett Thompson, and Bob Pickett led the distance events while Erik Corcoran, James Parkinson, Matt Vigorito, and Rob Dargis scored in sprints. Joe Anastasia, Curtis Sachse, and Andrew Pratt were our base in field events. Along with superstars, the team quickly found out who they could continuously depend on. The upperclassmen displayed their dependability and leadership abilities at each meet and practice.

Congratulations to next year's captains: Mike Cziepal, Justin Demers, and Matt Vigorito. We know you'll do a great job!

North Girls Spring Track... Conquer the League, Then the World

The Girls Spring Track team worked its way to a very successful season under the leadership of Coach Estey and Coach Holster, along with its captains Lauren Carvarlho, Vanessa Megna, and Gina Droney. Through dedication and hard work, the team earned the Hockomock League Meet Championship title.

Retaining the Muscato Relay trophy as well as finishing the Hockomock dual meet season with a record of 7-1, the team had high hopes going into the Hockomock Championship Meet. With numerous wins in running, field, and relay events, North captured the League Meet title. But North did not stop at Hocks. Many girls advanced their way to other challenges, as the team was represented at the State Class B Meet, State Finals, and even New Englands. Having a group of girls, not just one or two, was a very big achievement for North.

The brand new track facility allowed North to enjoy much of its success at home, hosting many meets including the Hockomock League Meet Championship and the Rocket Relays.

Next year holds a lot of promise as the underclassmen proved to be strong and ready to step up to fill the shoes of the seniors. With captain elects Dewey Pond, Tina Magno, and Janet Pailles, the Rocketeers will go into the 2001 spring season with high expectations.

Lighthouse During the Storm

NORTH Leads the Way as HOCKOMOCK CHAMPIONS

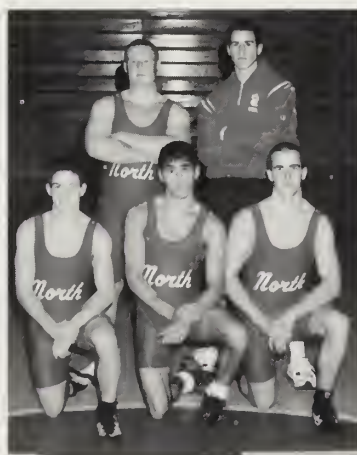

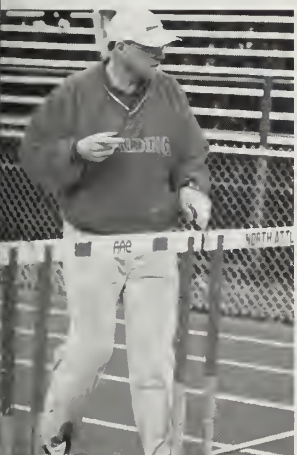

During our years at North Attleboro High, we've heard the propaganda that the Hockomock League is one of the most competitive in the area, as well as the entire state. We've also been praised with the idea that we possess the most powerful force, both in the aspects of athletic ability and sportsmanship, within that league. So it's no surprise that North Attleborough Athletics dominated the Hockomock League this year with nine championship titles.

This year's championship teams include: Football, Field Hockey, Girls Soccer, Volleyball, Boys Basketball, Wrestling, and Competition Cheerleading. Though the girls Winter Track and girls Spring Track teams did not earn the dual meet title due to one loss each, they returned with a vengeance to win the Hockomock League Meet title. These teams have set a new standard for North and the rest of the league, meeting and even surpassing previous accomplishments. All of this year's Hock Champs continued further competition and represented North at higher competition levels, such as tournaments, States, and New Englands.

Though many elements aided in the success of the teams this year, the coaches and athletes of the Class of 2000 were a major impact on every team. This year's seniors are accredited with provided valuable leadership, skill, and enthusiasm. The coaches molded a team of numerous girls or boys and transformed them into a cohesive unit of athletes while seniors led by example. The Northern Light recognizes the great effort involved in performing as a championship team and would like to take this opportunity to say Great Job and Thank You!

Making a Ripple In Calm Waters

North Girls Softball: Full of Smiles and Victories

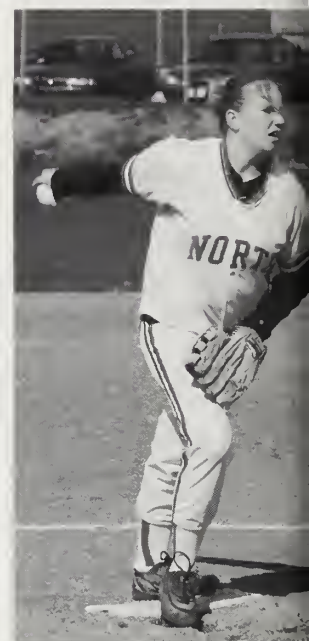

The 2000 Girls Softball team had a successful season under the encouraging eye of Coach Wallace and the leadership of captain Elizabeth McKenna, captain Sarah Whiting, and senior Liz Weber. These three seniors set the trend for the team by setting examples, both in athletic ability and sportsmanship. Though people may see softball as a slow, dull sport, the three seniors made the team realize the fun and sisterhood that softball provides. With this realization, our team did not allow a moment to pass without filling it with laughter and fun.

At first the season seemed to hold many challenges for the Girls Softball team. With such a young team, we were sure to have many obstacles. We soon found out that though many of the players were underclassmen, they possessed mature knowledge and talent. And with practice and determination, we began winning and working as a unit. Earning a sturdy record of 8-12, we beat many tough opponents in the league and gained the much more experience.

We made softball fun once again and made ourselves known. We created a ripple in calm waters. Hopefully, next year's captains Danielle Carrier and Jennifer Hichborn can do the same. Best wishes!

Class of 2000 ends high school sports career at the Fisher Kelley Banquet

On the evening of May 24, 2000, senior captains and athletes gathered at Folan's Restaurant in order to celebrate the 79th annual Fisher Kelley Banquet. The banquet focused on the senior class's accomplishments on and off the field in twenty one Varsity sports.

Mr. Sullivan conveyed to the audience the tradition and pride involved with the Fisher Kelley Banquet. Lynn Liberatore Johnson, a graduate and running legend of North Attleboro, spoke of the importance of dedication and lessons learned by participation in high school sports.

Mr. Beaupre continued the ceremony as he awarded the MIAA Sportsmanship

Awards to Ben Achin, Jill Colvin, Gina Droney, Emily Lane, Brian Spencer, and Brett Thompson. Three-Season athletes were also awarded for their year-round commitment to the success of North athletics. The biggest honor of the night, the Dr. Maurice D. Grant award, was presented to Dan DeBiasio for his achievements in football and baseball.

With the aid of numerous speeches and awards over a good meal, senior athletes said goodbye to their roles as North Rocketeers. Yet the banquet also helped us to realize that maybe we won't ever stop being Rocketeers at heart.

Clubademics

From SADD to Math League to Gym, Writing Lab, and Video Leaders, students this year piled on the activities and FLOODED their daily schedules. Somehow, amidst all these commitments, North students managed to maintain their success in academics, sports, and afterschool jobs.

Through their participation in clubs and organizations dedicated to service, such as SCAR, Student Awareness, and National Honor Society, students branched out into the community and offered their time and effort to make the town a better place.

The Drama and Music departments SAILED to higher levels of expertise and performance with some very ambitious productions, while new clubs such as the Ceramics Society, Environmental Club, and Student Film Society illustrated the diversity of students' interests.

Thanks to the student officers and faculty advisors of these organizations, students at NAHS can take advantage of the opportunities these clubs provide, and the number of student organizations can RISE with the changing interests of the school community.

The Class of 2000 Sinks Its Teeth into the Competition Once Again

This year's annual Powder Puff game was held on October 24 under the lights at Community Field - the preceding Pop Warner play-off game had delayed the start of Powder Puff. Although the Senior Sharks kept their streak going and came out on top, the game was not easy for either team. The Junior Jets showed their determination by keeping the score close. The Sharks won the game by just a few points when Kasey Walters scored a touchdown in the final 15 seconds.

Both teams worked hard to maintain their spirits and keep the intensity mounting throughout the game. Fans, parents, and enthusiastic mascots cheered the teams on and provided them with all the support they could. Senior coaches Ben Achin and Joe Riesenbeck led the Sharks to victory while Junior coaches Pat McGowan, Nick DiNardo, and Tim Whitman led the strong and spirited Jets.

Congratulations to the Class of 2000, and good luck to the Class of 2001 in next year's Powder Puff game. They are sure to pose quite a challenge to their opponents.

Students Flood the Gym and Rock the School at the Annual Homecoming Rally

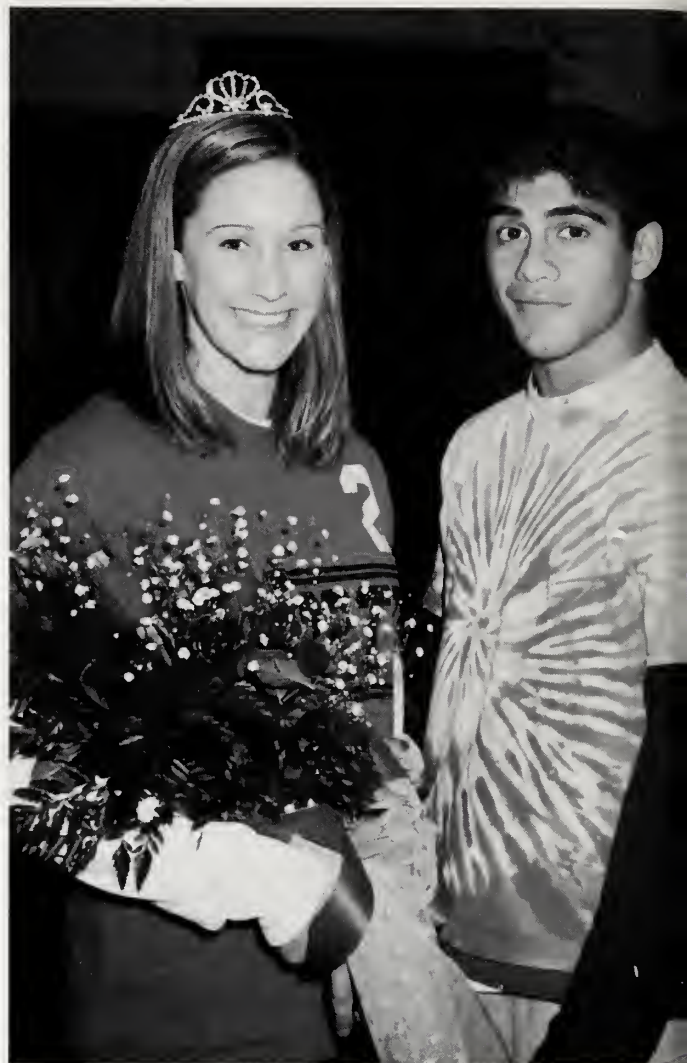

1999, post-summer, mid-fall,
All await the thrill of Homecoming football.
We start with a rally to incite our emotion,
Missing class for our team, now THAT is devotion!
Classes enter the gym in order of cool:
Grades 12, 11, 10, then the frosh of our school.
The band plays the music with utmost enthuse,
Then cheerleaders enter in skirts, shirts, and shoes.
Both genders showcase their mock endzone dance,
Then, strangely, appears a clown in plaid pants.
The ceremony slows to introduce the fall teams,
But color guard revives it with banner routines.
The spirit competition creates a staggering mess,
The Juniors declared best with their "N! A! H! S!"
Before the conclusion, tradition entails
That we announce the court: 9 guys and 9 gals.
The activities close, the gym doorway unclogs,

We leave expecting to grill the Canton Corndogs.
The floats will arrive no later than noon,
Float-builders hope to know the outcome soon.
The Freshmen chose the rocket, a 9th grade must.
That theme is so old, it's gathering dust.
Next up: the Sophs, with a dazzling theme,
A stairway of glory; at the top is our team!
The eleventh grade hackers finally arrive
With their fake computer, complete with Hard Drive!
They threaten Canton with an electronic mail bomb,
And crash Canton's website @ Losers.com.
But all hail to the Seniors, to the Seniors all hail,
With their monster-sized bulldog in a gigantic jail.
The gold slogan, "Pound 'Em," is powerful and concise.
The judges make their pick; no need to think twice.
The Rocketeers dominated, needless to say,
All head home happy on Homecoming day.

Daddy Walks On Water

The Middle School cafeteria swells with attendance at the annual Father Daughter Dance

On Saturday night, February 12, Student Council hosted its annual Father Daughter Dance in the Middle School Cafetorium. Pink tablecloths and plastic heart-shaped containers filled with conversation hearts helped develop the Valentine's Day theme. The delicate finger sandwiches and light desserts available for snacking kept fathers and their daughters from experiencing a moment of hunger, while the strands of white Christmas lights that were wrapped around the cafetorium's support columns set the mood for the night.

Many fathers seemed hesitant at first to take to the dance floor, but the moment they recognized a song, those dads were rocking with their daughters in no time. The pleasant blend of old and new tunes put all at ease and made for a very successful evening.

Deluge of Determination

A determined Student Council spends hours organizing school events

The 1999-2000 school year proved to be a successful one for the hard-working Student Council. With tremendous help from the Student Council Advisor, Mrs. Caldwell, members spent countless hours planning and organizing events.

The Student Council went to work early in the year at "Make a Difference Day." Members teamed up with other volunteers from the community in an effort to clear trails and pick up trash from World War I Memorial Park.

Following this event, the council organized a very entertaining touchdown dance contest at the Thanksgiving Rally.

The Student Council-sponsored Father Daughter Dance was also a great time for everyone in attendance.

Student Council also helped organize the Hawaiian-themed March of Dimes dance. Students, faculty, and representatives from JAMN 94.5 came to the middle school cafeteria to participate in the event.

In February, with one of the biggest turnouts ever at the annual Red Cross Blood Drive, Student Council members helped comfort the donors.

The lollipop sales at Valentine's Day were also very popular, and the profits raised went to scholarship funds for North Attleboro students.

This year's Student Council continued its tradition of excellence by trying to make the school a better place.

Inundation of Innovation

Four underclassmen organize school-wide participation in the March of Dimes

This year, as sophomores, Alyssa Bordonaro, Melissa Crosby, Meghan Meierdiercks, and Danielle Andrienas led a team of students from NAHS in the annual March of Dimes walk.

The March of Dimes is a non-profit organization which helps fund research for prenatal care and babies born with birth defects.

Last year, Bordonaro, Crosby, and Meierdiercks organized an NAHS team, also, placing 22nd out of all teams from the Boston area.

During this year, the four captains held various fund-raising events, including a car wash and the Hawaiian-themed dance, to earn money for team shirts and the bus ride into Boston.

With the help of Student Council, word of the Hawaiian Dance spread through the school, and the dance produced over $900 in profits.

All together, the NAHS team raised $3401.55 through pledges for the March of Dimes cause, $1000 more than last year. Thanks to all who participated for making this year so successful.

SADD fills the year with meaningful activities and moving presentations

With a record 244 members and more money in the treasury than in recent years, Students Against Drunk Driving started the year off with a bang.

By the end of the first meeting, officers Kasey Walters, Mimi Matkowski, Sarah McLanahan, Jill Colvin, and Katie Hansen had already revised the contract, chosen a designer for the giant cafeteria contract, and established a list of participants for SADD's first official event, tying red ribbons on car antennas during half-time of an NAHS football game.

In the following meetings, SADD kept a packed schedule with emotional and influential presentations by policemen, the Assistant District Attorney, and a man imprisoned for attempted murder.

As December and January approached, SADD's focus turned to making arrangements for the Fashion Show. With formal attire provided by David's Bridal and Mr. Tux, the show was a huge success for SADD.

SADD members also participated in the annual White Face Day and gave a presentation regarding this event at the Senior Prom Assembly.

SADD ended this productive year by awarding its annual SADD Senior Scholarship to an essay contest winner.

Student Awareness Club continues in its mission to promote volunteerism

The Student Awareness Club experienced a successful 1999-2000 year in its numerous volunteer activities.

This year, the club joined forces with the middle school to enhance its power to help others.

Through the combined efforts of advisors, Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Fisher, President Morgan Beith, and dedicated members, SAC was able to help the community more efficiently.

At Christmas, the club adopted two children and raised money for their presents through a raffle.

In theme of the new century, SAC helped plant 2000 bulbs and clean up the town park. The group volunteered its services at Madonna Monor and Canterbury Woods on a weekly basis and offered help at the town's 20th Century Celebration on New Year's Eve.

SAC also joined Peer Leaders in the annual Rock-A-Thon.

Hopefully, SAC's success this year will continue through the dedication and caring of the newly elected officers and the remaining members.

Student Coalition Against Racism tackles the challenge of eliminating prejudice

This year, the Student Coalition Against Racism continued its mission to promote tolerance and acceptance in the community.

SCAR again participated in the annual Team Harmony event at the Fleet Center in Boston, and the group later received a national award for its progressive work against hate and prejudice.

SCAR decided to begin work on a school-wide project to represent the community's message of zero-tolerance for hate. The project is a collage, similar to that of the Anti-Defamation League, that is formed with a piece of paper from every student in the school system. The Collage portrays the celebration of differences and the unity of the North Attleboro community.

SCAR continues its pledge to overcome the ignorance and intolerance that exists in the world today. - Morgan Beith

A Fountain of Freshness

The new look of Galadriel helps the magazine surpass the success of previous years

This year, the production of Galadriel, North Attleboro High School's literary magazine, involved many new approaches and concepts. With a staff composed mainly of newcomers, the few returning senior members worked hard to involve everyone.

The determined, young staff attended meetings every Wednesday to discuss ideas for the magazine and to rate students' submissions to the magazine.

sions to the magazine.

With the aid of advisors, Mr. Benson, Mr. Briata, and Ms. O'Brien, the staff outlined and set to work on plans for the year.

Many members of the staff spent countless hours learning new computer programs to enhance the visual effects and create the fresh appearance of the magazine. The extra effort paid off, and the edition was hailed as the best ever.

Molding the Future

Ceramics Society members express their inner emotions

The 1999-2000 school year represented the first of its kind for the Ceramics Society. The club actually began late last year, but many students were then unaware of what the club had to offer.

Under the advisement of Ms. Joanne Dorothy, the Ceramics Society expanded its membership this year. Election of club officers quickly took place with Chris Noble as President, Angela Knox as Vice-President, Tasha DeYorio as Treasurer, Melanie Lafond as Secretary, and Drew Johnson as head of the Public Relations Committee.

In order to create momentum in the club this year, the Society held numerous fundraisers. With profits from the NHS Craft Fair, the group purchased new tools, glazes, and clay. The Society also raised funds in the successful candy sales during lunch in the cafeteria.

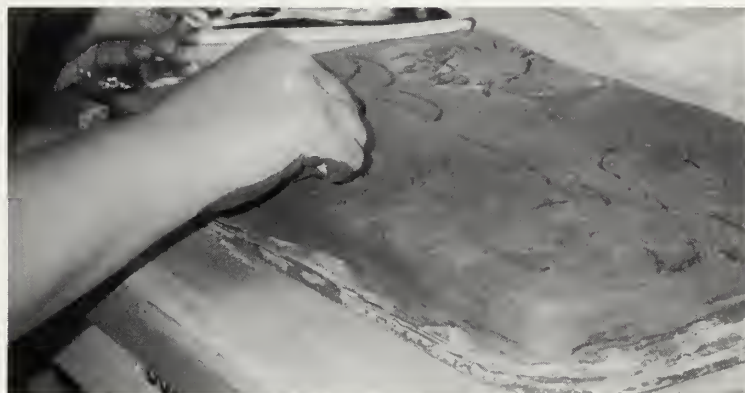

In the future, the Society hopes to expand its influence further into the community by teaching residents of area hospitals how to work with clay.

Hopefully, the Ceramics Society "will accomplish all of our goals and make each and every one of us a better person."

NAHS Art Club allows students to broaden their knowledge of art

The NAHS Art Club experienced quite a productive year, holding meetings once every week. During the meetings, the club discussed future goals such as travelling to the art-filled urban area of New York.

The club engaged in numerous fundraisers in an attempt to make the New York goal a reality. These fundraisers included candy sales, coffee houses, art exhibits, and a car wash.

All in all, the club members enjoy being a part of the Art Club and the forum it provides for informing others of their interests. In the words of President Jessika Davis, "[The Art Club] offers an outside-school opportunity to discuss art and basically just chill."

Video Club spends the year capturing emotional memories on camera

This year's Video Club was very active. On top of successful tapings of all the Drama productions, the club was able to include some sports as well.

Many crews gave up countless hours taping School Committee meetings into the wee hours. The club's rolling studio came in handy for the recording of these numerous events.

The class/club trip to New York City in March was a huge adventure. The group toured the renovated Radio City Music Hall, and the students were impressed by the staging that set standards for aircraft carriers in WWII. The new and improved tour of NBC was certainly worth waiting for, and it made many club members instant stars.

The video studio was busy throughout the year with club members each doing his/her own thing. Lee Simmons has even branched out to do wedding and anniversary parties. Watch out, Steven Spielberg! The competition for an Academy Award has just skyrocketed.

Rolling With the Role Models

Peer Leaders creates more opportunities for community involvement

The 1999-2000 school year was one to remember for the Peer Leaders.

To start off, the council members reviewed several applications and selected enough new sophomores, juniors, and even seniors to push membership over 50.

Peer Leaders made a big impact on the community this year. When the town organized a Millennium Parade to celebrate the new year, Peer Leaders helped the elderly find seats.

When one leader reported that Madonna Manor residents were looking for activities, a group of Peer Leaders dressed in Halloween costumes, baked goodies, and spent the day at the nursing home.

The Peer Leaders kicked off April vacation with the Annual Rock-A-Thon in which members stayed up all night rocking in rocking chairs to raise money for G.W. Brodsky, an NAHS student injured in a car accident.

In order to spread the message of a substance-free lifestyle to younger children, Peer Leaders held a training day at the middle school to discuss alcohol abuse and plan for future events. At the end of the day, a 7th grade health class watched the Leaders perform skits about crisis intervention.

Leaders also visited first grade classes to help students design anti-smoking posters.

At the end of the year, Peer Leaders returned to the middle school for Heritage Day and talked to students about "high school life."

Thanks to Advisor Ms. Oulette for helping to make this a successful year for Peer Leaders.

NAHS Gym Leaders take control of gym classes throughout the school

The Gym Leaders for the 1999-2000 school year were truly one of a kind. More than 30 senior boys and girls were chosen to lead physical education classes, and they went above and beyond their duties.

These students participated, led, and assisted both the teachers and students in their classes throughout the year. They displayed respect, enthusiasm, and knowledge of their activities.

On Tuesday, May 16,

the leaders worked through the woods for the annual field trip to WWI Park. It was exciting, fun, and exhausting. The morning opened with a game of kickball, and the day continued non-stop with a short break for lunch. Each leader was asked to complete a specific task prior to the trip, and each task was fulfilled expertly, making the trip a success and a relaxing day for everyone.

Forces of Nature

The Environmental Club sets out on a crusade to protect the earth

A message from the Environmental Club:

The world's population is increasing by 91 million people each year, further crowding the already overpopulated planet. Ignorance of this issue can be deadly, but when people become knowledgeable, they can make a change.

We, as a society, should take responsibility for our actions and their consequences. Not only should we care about the environment because of the impact it has on our everyday lives, but because nature is beautiful.

So, where does the Environmental Club fit into all of this? We hope to gather facts about today's pressing environmental issues and pass that knowledge on to others. We will set out into the community doing volunteer work and organizing events, such as this spring's downtown pickup. The Environmental Club is new this year, and we look forward to creating an educated, greener North Attleboro.

NAHS Drama Club completes another year filled with outstanding theatrical talent

As the school year began, the Drama Club quickly got to work preparing for the Fall Play, The Curious Savage. During the third week of school, veterans of and newcomers to the department went into auditions with high hopes.

Once lines were down and the set was finally up, the show went off without major incident.

The annual One-Act Festival kicked off year 2000 with plays directed by Chuck Lafond -- Four Little Words, Sarah Seagrave -- Plaza Suite, and Courtney Bottomley -- Running with Scissors.

After weeks and weeks of set building, forgetting lines, and numerous arguments, all performances went well and competition for awards was tight.

Winners of the Most Distinguished Performance award included Lindsay Levesque, Matt Tarselli, Jaime Kain, Ben Norman, and Courtney Bottomley.

Greg Rose and Natalie

Fertitta received Best Actor and Best Actress, respectively, and Four Little Words took the title as Best Play.

With hardly any time to rest, auditions for the Spring Musical, Into the Woods, began. Stephen Sondheim's compilation of fairy tales was brought to life by superb acting and amazing sets.

Everyone's favorite stories were full of new twists and a cast of characters including such favorites as Cinderella, Little Red Riding Hood, the Baker, the Baker's Wife, Jack and the Beanstalk, and the Witch. All those who participated in and attended the show enjoyed the experience greatly.

At the close of the school year, 12 new Thespians were inducted into the International Thespian Society. The ceremony, held on May 19th, was the completion of a year of hard work and success.

Listen for the Pulse

The NAHS Music Department surprises the community with versatility and talent

The 1999-2000 school year came to an end for the Music Department after three concerts, three private performances, six parades, one incredible musical, District and State Finals, a variety show, assorted rallies, and many lessons learned.

From academic life to personal life, music at NAHS has been a major influence in the growing experiences of much of the school's youth.

Under the direction of Stuart Britton and Brian Battles, the department has grown into one that has covered everything from Wolfgang Mozart to James Hetfield.

At the spring concert, the various choral groups performed a rock collection for which Mr. Britton spent most of the school year and previous summer preparing. With over 100 musicians interspersed into eight ensembles, the members of the department gave the collection its best shot while enriching audience members and each other.

With a powerful lineup consisting of outstanding instrumentalists and vocalists dedicated to their cause, this year's music department has climbed to a level of excellence that has built a new reputation rather than rested upon an old one.

National Honor Society membership swells with students dedicated to volunteer work

The National Honor Society had an excellent year, with the Class of 2000 producing one of the largest groups ever to be inducted. NHS began the year with much hard work for its annual Craft Fair, making the fair a huge success. NHS continued its hard work throughout the year to uphold its commitments to service, leadership, character, and scholarship. During the holiday season, NHS held a food drive for Lenore's Pantry. Receiving an overwhelming response from our school, NHS collected thousands of donations for needy families in our area.

As the year progressed, NHS pushed on to keep up with demanding school work and schedules while continuing to provide for our school and town. NHS helped honor the mentors of our school with the Teacher Appreciation Breakfast, collected donations for a Santa Stocking fund during Christmas, worked to help other organizations such as the Science Committee, and collected candy and toys to make baskets for less fortunate children at Easter. Other annual events such as the Special Olympics also allowed NHS to work with the N.A. community. This year's National Honor society met and exceeded expectations with selfless dedication, service, and concern for others.

Rocket Corner, the NAHS School Store, offers discounts and deals to boost sales

Rocket Corner, the North Attleboro High School Store, is the only place to find limited edition North merchandise.

The store offers everything from Champion brand clothing to gifts for all occasions to school supplies.

Special sales were offered throughout the year, such as a half price sale of close out merchandise and the ever-popular annual mystery discount days held on Fridays in February.

Mrs. Hogan's Computer Application classes helped to make flyers to advertise for the monthly sales. With the help of advisors Mrs. Hogan and Mrs. Moon, the school store turned out to be a big success.

Plunge into Politics

Junior State of America jumps full force into the world of government

Under the leadership of Teacher Advisor, Kevin Donovan, and President, Erik Corcoran, the Junior State of America experienced an amazing first year. Other officers included Tommy Taylor as Vice President, Jen Malachowski as Secretary, and Brett Thompson as Treasurer.

The year began with JSA's collaborative effort to write its very own Constitution. The club participated in many other activities as well, such as bake sales and debates on the topic of "Massachusetts." Several visitors, including Representative Betty Poirier and Congressman Jim McGovern, attended meetings throughout the year.

At Fall State, in Danvers, MA, the club learned proper debating format. Next, in Washington DC, the club sat in on informative talks about each presidential candidate. In Stamford, CT, JSA again took part in debates and mock trials.

As the year progressed, nine members grew into a club of about 30 individuals. Thanks to Mr. Donovan for making the year complete, and, hopefully, the gavel will be passed down for many years to come.

The Science Committee rises to the challenge of creating interest among younger students

This year, the Science Committee continued in its efforts to foster a love and appreciation for the sciences. The six officers attempted to keep pace with the unrelenting efforts of their advisor, Mr. David Vito, in organizing and supporting science-related events. Though staffed with a young club and only three returning senior members, the committee was charged for the year.

Aside from the regular can-recycling program, the Science Committee engaged in numerous activities. The club extended its knowledge and enjoyment of science to the community by participating in activities with Martin Elementary School students.

The club ended another fun-filled year with the annual end-of-the-year field trip. Thanks to the 1999-2000 officers: President Natasha Girgis, Vice-President Mimi Matkowski, Secretary Ryan Casey, Treasurer Junaid Alam, and Co-Publicists Buffy Hastings and Billy Lazzaro.

Tide of Technology

Science Fair participants dive into the challenge before them and drown the competition

Science Fair participants worked extra hard this year, staying up late at night from September to January in order to prepare their projects for the annual school science fair on Thursday, January 6.

This preparation included deciding on a research topic, performing the research, and designing experiments to prove or disprove a hypothesis.

At the actual fair, the participants presented their research, experiments, and results to judges who then determined scores for the participants.

Natasha Girgis, Justin Kwan, and Jane Casey received the first, second, and third highest scores, respectively. After revising their projects and backboards, the top 18 scorers of the school fair moved up a level to compete at the regional science fair on Saturday, March 4. Despite the increase in intense competition, seven out of the ten first place winners and five out of the nine second place winners were from NAHS.

The highest scoring regional project went to Buffy Hastings. Ryan Casey was chosen to compete at the International Science Fair. At the Run-off for the International Fair, Natasha Girgis was also chosen to compete internationally, making this the first year in NAHS history that two students will represent our school in the International Fair. Buffy, Ryan, and Natasha were all invited to attend the Bio-Tech Conference.

Congratulations to all who participated and won awards, and good luck to next year's competitors.

The Northern Light Yearbook moves with the times and reworks its techniques

The 1999-2000 school year for the yearbook staff proved to be one involving a long learning process.

For the first time, the Editors-in-chief used Pagemaker Yeartech computer technology to produce their layouts. Seniors editor Katie Hansen, Underclassmen editor Lauren Carvalho, Sports editor Mimi Matkowski, Clubademics editor Sarah McLanahan and Business editors Emily Lane and Katie Clark familiarized themselves with the new approach.

As a result of the new frequent meetings with their enthusiastic staffs. By the time the editors finally figured out how to work correctly with the computer program, the year was nearly over.

Despite the lack of communication between the editors and their staffs, however, the year 2000 yearbook is still expected to be the best ever.

Senior Activities

It seems like just yesterday we dragged ourselves back into the high school for the first day of our senior year. We faced the reality of applying to colleges and accepted the impact that the last three years had on our lives. We participated in fund-raisers, pep rallies, a very memorable senior prom, and other activities. Then, in what seems like an instant later, we were attending senior week activities while awaiting graduation. Knowing the end was near, seniors tried to pack in as much time together as possible at the Senior Reception, Informal Class Day, and Formal Class Night. And on June 4, 2000, we marched onto Beaupre Field for our graduation. During this momentous ceremony, we laughed, we cried, we hugged, and we took as many pictures as possible. Soon we felt a profound sadness to be leaving the people and experiences that had influenced our identities. But, we dragged ourselves out of high school, as we had dragged ourselves in last September. Our lives had been like the OCEAN TIDE, dragging in, dragging out. We now understand we are equipped and ready to force ourselves out again. We are the SURGE that'll overpower whatever's out there... we are

Senior Reception

their last dance
together*

The Senior Reception was held at the Mansfield Holiday Inn on May 31, 2000. The students arrived at 6:30 to socialize at dinner. As the plates were being cleared the parents began filtering in.

The receiving line was formed. Parents and students alike shared laughs and tears. As the last few parents were coming through, the class of 2000 was getting restless.

Finally, they couldn't bear it any longer. No more parents left to shake hands, the seniors got on the dance floor and the DJ's cranked up the tunes. Everybody got down and boogied.

At first the parents were somewhat timid to start dancing. After a lot of begging from their kids, they finally let loose.

Everyone was working up a sweat dancing like crazy. During a few slow songs, the seniors took a moment to relax and have a slow dance with their parents.

As the night came to a close, many were teary-eyed at the thought that this would be their last high school dance. As the last song was called, "Graduation (Friends Forever)" everyone joined in a great big circle together as a class for the last time. Everyone swayed to the beat of the song. Some laughed, some cried, and some were thinking back on memories of their school days.

Everyone left emotional. Whether they were happy, sad, nervous, anxious or just plain tired, everyone enjoyed a wonderful evening.

Dinner is Served? Sarah Bordonaro and Erin Gunn are ready to start dancing after looking at their dinner. What did they do to that chicken?

Bust A Move! Courtney Bottomley gets down on the dance floor and shows her friends how it's done.

Get Down and Get Funky: Kasey Walters breaks loose and gets funky on the dance floor.

Good Evening: Vin Sharma and A.J. Magnuson greet parents and invited guests at the beginning of the receiving line.

Senior Cookout

Playing Games and Eating- the best things to do to prepare us for life after high school

With the day a sunny and hot one, we all showed up at the high school for a couple of hours of hamburgers, volleyball and games with our friends. The traditional Senior Cookout was well attended.

Mr. Whitty grilled up his finest hot dogs and burgers while everyone stood about and socialized. Some began to kick around the kickball, begging their reluctant friends to join in.

Volleyball and Frisbee teams were formed and people started having a good time. The heat doused many game players who eventually retreated to the coziness of the shade under the trees.

The afternoon then quieted down and when the teachers chickened out of the volleyball game, many game seekers went home.

It had been a nice time for everyone to relax, eat and have a good time with friends before the end of high school.

Class Day

The First Wave of recognition and much more to follow

We met in the theater once again for our first formal introduction as the graduating class of 2000. Only half of us were really awake and even less of us showed up on time. We reveled in the recognition from the rest of the school as they were all told to stand for our procession. We heard our class history from our class officers, with a militant but humorous conclusion from our President A.J. Magnuson. Our Class Will both mystified and entertained us all.

Our announcement of the yearbook dedication left Mr. Grant almost speechless, but one can not expect too much! Ms. Cobb was honored for her years of dedication to teaching and the arts by naming the NAHS theater the "Judith E. Cobb Theater." Finally came the Senior Slide Show which revealed some rather interesting, and most likely embarrassing pictures from our elementary school days. By the end of the recession, we were enjoying the title of "graduate".

Leaving Forever? Members of the Class of 2000 have mixed emotions as they leave Informal Class Day.

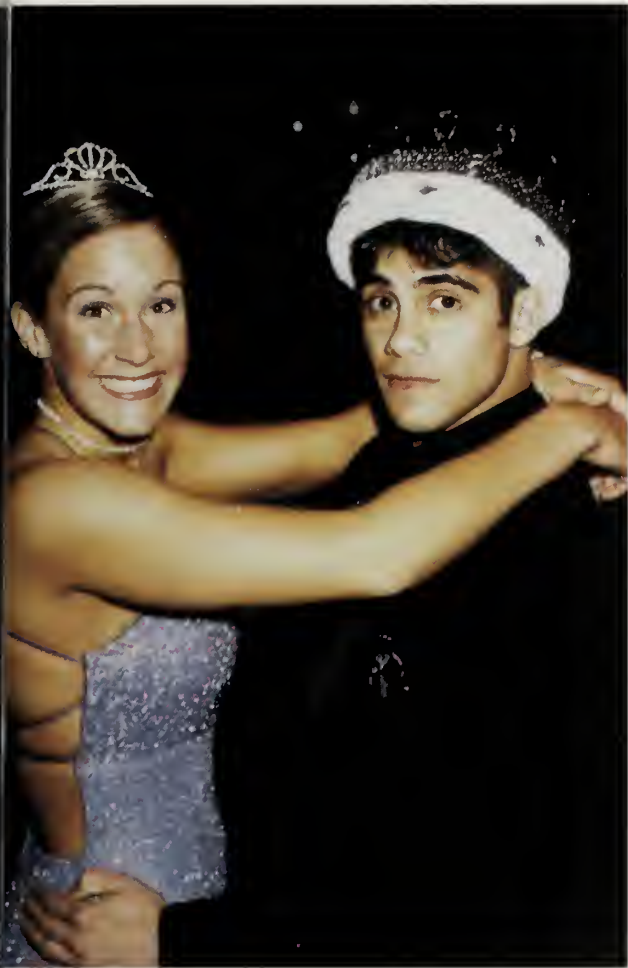

Amazed and Confused: Seniors crowd onto the floor to get a better view of the embarrassing pictures in the Senior Slide Show.

Listen Up! Jen Budd, Lauren Carvalho, Eric Corcoran and DeBiasio listen intently to the speaker at Class Day.

We're Going To Miss You! Jaime Kain, Natalie Fertitta, Courtney Bottomley, Caitlin Mulligan, and Elyssa Tardif honor Miss Cobb with a theater dedication and flowers.

Ready Or Not! Jessica Nicholas is all excited to introduce the awaited Senior Slide Show

A Night "To Be With You"

Class of 2000 Senior Prom Leaves Many Unforgettable Memories

The senior class of 2000 diverted from tradition this year. Our prom was held on Tuesday, April 18, 2000 at the Lakeview Pavilion in Foxboro. We also skipped dinner. No table assignments, no waiting for food. Munchies were served instead. We arrived at the prom and just started dancing, and didn't stop until 11:30.

The night was filled with excitement and surprise. Our own Andrew Hajian stole the show with a performance of his own hip-hop tunes. Mr. Whitty took off his jacket, relaxed and decided to get funky to some classic oldies (but goodies).

The time came to announce this year's Senior Prom King and Queen. All hail to Queen Kasey Walters and King Vin Sharma. The King and Queen danced to "To Be With You" by Mr. Big while their court joined in with them. This commenced a night of dancing for all. This prom was sure to be one that nobody will forget.

Royal Pair: Queen Kasey Walters and King Vin Sharma kick off the night by dancing to the prom theme song "To Be With You".

Class Night

Shared Excitement and Recognition

For the second time in one day we entered the NAHS gymnasium in a graduate procession, only this time we shared the honor with well-deserved World War II veterans that never had the opportunity to graduate from NAHS.

We heard from speakers, Rep. Betty Poirier, Sen. Cheryl Jacques, Veterans' Rep. James Bound and Chairman of the Board of Selectman Mark Fisher about the veterans' sacrifices.

We looked on as the chapters of these men's lives that started out so many years ago were finally completed with long awaited NAHS diplomas. The special moment touched everyone present.

We sat in awe as Senior Chorus members Natalie Fertitta, Jaime Kain, Ian Fitzgerald, Elyssa Tardif, Courtney Bottomley, Erin Gunn and Sarah McLanahan wowed us with "Seasons of Love". Once again we recessed, but that night it was a special class of 2000. We left eager for Sunday, our most desirable event of graduation.

Bored? Becky Anderson, Sarah Atkins, Dan DeBiasio, Steve Donnolly and Ian Fitzgerald aren't too excited during Class Night.

Speechless: Mr. Grant really doesn't know what to say after he is presented with the yearbook dedication

Graduation

*The Class of 2000
Leaves NAHS for bigger and better things*

The day had finally arrived. The day where we all step from one world to another. This was the day we were to graduate from high school. It was Sunday, June 4, 2000. This was the most sure and most unsure day of our lives so far.

We soon realized that the friends and classmates we sat beside, we may very well never see again. We were going down our separate paths; some would cross many more times and some would never cross again.

As the ceremonies progressed, we began to think. We listened to the speeches of the Valedictorian, Sarah Atkins, and Salutatorian, Sarah McLanahan. Both talked about the ideas of individuality using themes that included the many diverse characteristics of the class represented by raindrops or the command to search for the life, your life that is out there somewhere.

We sat and relished in this one moment in our lives where we were both young and old. The ceremony ended with the handing out of the diplomas and the heavenly singing of the chorus and their tribute to the class with their class ode. We then parted on our separate ways down the road we all call life.

Follow the Leaders: Morgan Beith smiles at the camera as the National Honor Society begins the graduation procession.

Today Is The Day: Matthew Boynes sits, contemplating the meaning of graduation and his plans for the future.

A Fine Speaker: Dr. Richard Hoffman speaks to the class of and what the future has in store for them.

le th Class of 2000: Senior members of the chorus amaze the crowd with their singing of e Class Ode.

The Speeches: A.J. Magnuson, class president, leads as Master of Ceremonies.

Sarah Atkins, Valedictorian, speaks to the class of the diversity of the Class of 2000.

Sarah McLanahan, Salutatorian, urges the class to try to find the "Life Out There".

es and Gentlemen, the Class of 2000: Kasey Walters, Elyssa Tardif, Jessica Reidel, Kerri no, and Melissa Nelson all are about to switch their tassels from left to right, signifying their uation from NAHS.

All Smiles: Courtney Bottomley smiles from ear to ear as she knows she is leaving NAHS

Just the Beginning: Mr. Whitty and Mr. Pickering followed by guests from the school committee lead the class of 2000 in the procession

I Pledge Allegiance... Class Vice-President Vinay Sharma leads the class and spectators in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Wherever We Go...There We Are: Members of the graduating class of 2000 switch their tassels from left to right showing their graduation.

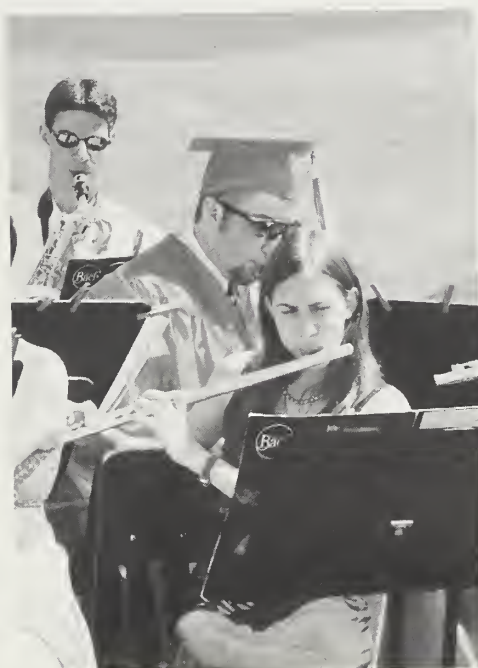

The Beat Goes On: Senior Band Member Brian Meierdiercks helps the band one last time.

With A Little Help From My Friend: Seniors Cristen Bradshaw and Pam Sanford give the band some melody.

Cool Dude: Senior Paul Waple looks totally cool in his shades

God Luck! Mr. Whitty wishes the class officers, A.J. Magnuson, Vay Sharma, Heather Birtwell and Jill Colvin good luck and best wishes before the beginning of the graduation ceremonies.

Dedication 2000

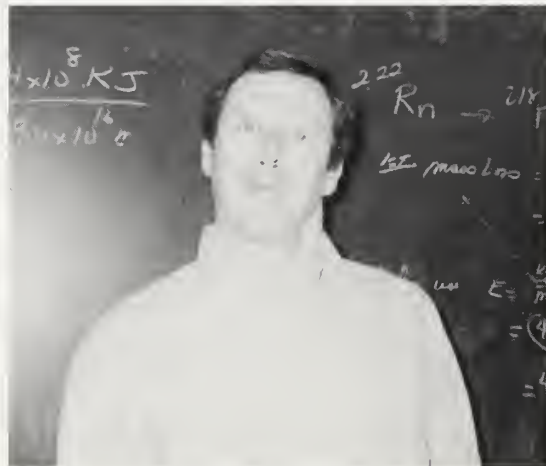

Mr. Jeffrey Grant

1972

1977

2000

Each year, the members of the Senior Class participate in a vote to determine the faculty member worthy of a yearbook dedication. This year's recipient of the dedication has spent the past 29 years teaching here at North Attleboro High School.

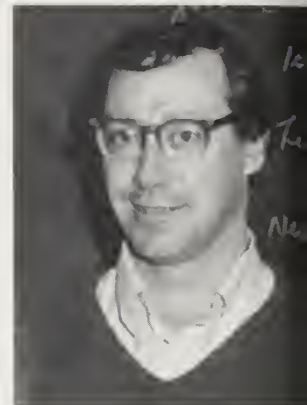

He is known for his famous beginning-of-the-year verbal quiz on everything from sports to politics, conspicuously leaving out any questions pertinent to his subject.

This teacher's students know him for his tendency to interrupt his own lectures in order to ask them seemingly irrelevant questions about their personal lives, or to shield his prominent eyes from a piece of bright, clashing clothing. Despite this tendency, however, the yearbook dedication recipient does manage to avoid offending his students by offering cupcakes to those with pre-announced birthdays.

Always ready for his class's complaints with a random comeback, this teacher quickly softens students' bad tempers. When he notices members of his class involved in private discussions unrelated to his beloved chemistry, this teacher will continue his lecture, slyly inserting a derogatory comment about the behavior.

This teacher thinks nothing of pretending to swat, with a pointer, well-meaning visitors to his class in search of the chocolate he keeps hidden in his closet. In exchange for a smile and a little begging, though, he always gives in, and the visitor usually leaves the classroom with hands full of Reese's Peanut Butter Cups and Hershey's Kisses.

As a symbol of our appreciation of this wonderful teacher, we, the Class of 2000, dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Jeffrey Grant. Thank you Mr. Grant for making our experience with chemistry sweet and memorable.

The Next Wave

On this wave that we call life, high school may seem like nothing more than a ripple in the ocean of time. But you and I know that is just not the case. In our four years here, we have learned countless lessons that have supported us in our quest for knowledge.

This year's edition of North Attleboro High School's yearbook, Northern Light 2000, proves that our experiences over the past four years represent more than that little, helpless ripple; instead, they symbolize the relentless current that will send us sailing into the vast unknown that awaits us.

Yearbooks, although you may not realize it now, are very, very special objects to treasure forever. They are not to be thrown haphazardly onto your old, dusty shelves to rot. Let this serve as a warning to you, purchasers of the Northern Light, from the editors who have devoted much of their lives in the past year to making the 2000 yearbook the best ever.

Because of the tireless efforts of Lauren Carvalho, Katie Clark, Katie Hansen, Emily Lane, Mimi Matkowski, Sarah McLanahan, Mrs. Lush, Mrs. Hogan, Dan Smith from Jostens, and the ever-so-patient yearbook staff, you will never forget those precious moments that have defined your high school careers.

In your hands right now lies a book that has immortalized your hopes and dreams for the future. Don't allow these valuable memories to rest on the sands of yesterday. Instead, watch your fantasies become reality as you cast your ambitions into The Next Wave.

Love from the creators of the Northern Light 2000!

Editors-in-Chief: Lauren Carvalho, Katie Hansen,

Mimi Matkowski, Sarah McLanahan

Business Editors: Katie Clark, Emily Lane

We, the class of 2000, wish you well and hope for a

You will be missed

Cobb and Baldasaro Retire

After a million combined years of service to North High, Vin Baldasaro and Judy Cobb decided to turn in the grade books, the chalk, the papers to correct, the countless hours directing plays, or advising the College Bowl, the 22-minute lunches, and all the other "perks", for a life without bells, when the sound of a child's voice asking a question doesn't draw one to immediate attention.

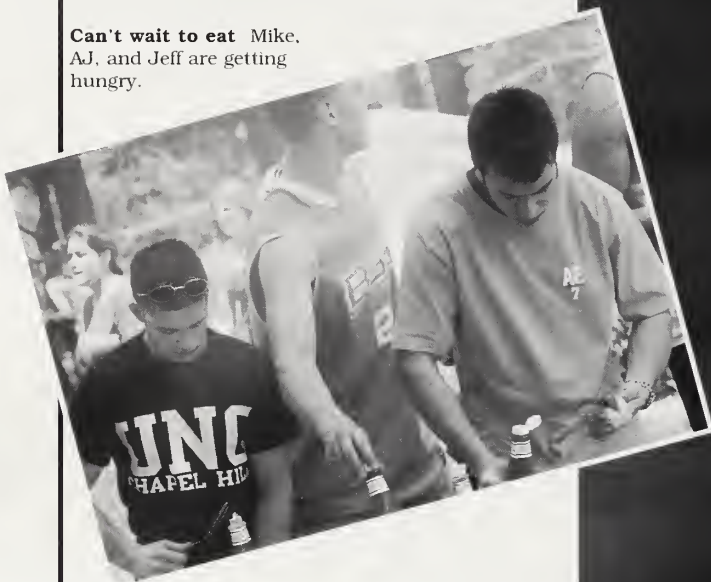

The parties thrown by the faculty for both Judy and Vin were very fitting. Mrs. Pasquine held court in Mr. Baldasaro's honor accusing him of even showing up school with his shirt on inside-out. The songs Mr. Britton wrote in honor of Mrs. Cobb were immortalized on tape in a encore performance in the teacher's room. Mr. Britton's medley of songs were from many of the fabulous productions Miss Cobb has staged for the community over the years. Both of these teachers really cannot be replaced. The dedication, professionalism but mainly their love of North Attleborough's students, make them a dying breed in teaching. We wish them all the happiness and sunshine they deserve in retirement.

Can't wait! Justin can't wait 'til it is all over.

Can't wait to eat Mike, AJ, and Jeff are getting hungry.

Smile pretty Smiles of happiness as the seniors get closer to graduation.

Ads

This year our community again showed overwhelming support to the Northern Light by publicizing their businesses through purchasing ads. The National Honor Society devoted two days toward canvassing the town to sell ads to local businesses in order to help fund this edition of the yearbook. We thank all of the merchants, professionals, parents, and friends who helped to make the 2000 edition of the Northern Light the quality product which will preserve memories for years to come.

A special thanks again this year to Chestnut Hill Studios who have given us wonderful portraits and candid photographs to choose from. Special thanks to Joe, Gary, and Lou.
